Brilliant Military Wedding for Miss Mattingly.

BRIDE OF MAJ. D. D. PORTER

Miss Cameron Weds Mr. Burnham in Presence of Distinguished Company at All Souls' Church—Miss Farr and Mr. Nye Another June Couple Married in Same Edifice.

One of the prettiest of the June weddings was that yesterday afternoon of Miss Winifred M. Mattingly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel L. Mattingly, and Maj. David D. Porter, U. S. M. C., grandson of the late Admiral Porter, U. S. N.

The ceremony was performed in St. John's Church at 5:30 o'clock, in the presence of the most distinguished company possible in Washington at this season. The bride party included Mrs. Ethelbert L. D. Breckinridge, formerly Miss Genevieve Mattingly, cousin of the bride, matron of honor; Col. Littleton W. T. Waller, U. S. M. C., best man, and Col. Charles H. Lauchman, U. S. M. C., Chief of Staff, Col. Charles L. McCawley, Col. Frank J. Denny, U. S. M. C., Capt. Richard Stewart Hooker, U. S. M. C., Lieut. Commander Cleland Davis, U. S. N., Maj. Andrew W. Brewster, U. S. A., Capt. Philip S. Brown, U. S. M. C., and Mr. Clary Bay, of this city, ushers. St. John's Church was never quieter or prettier in its dainty decorations of white sweet peas, hollyhocks, and palms and ferns, banded in artistic fashion in the chancel, the white sweet peas and white hollyhocks, tied with flowing white satin ribbons, marking the pews for the members of the families. The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. They were preceded by the ushers, in the full dress uniforms of their ranks, and the matron of honor, and met the bridegroom and his best man at the chancel rail, they also in their full dress regiments, this being the first time the bridegroom has appeared in the full dress paraphernalia of a major, to which rank he has recently been promoted.

The bridegroom was of ivory satin, made princess, fitted her figure closely, and trimmed with rose point lace. She wore a veil of tulle, held with a coronet of orange blossoms, and carried a shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley. The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. They were preceded by the ushers, in the full dress uniforms of their ranks, and the matron of honor, and met the bridegroom and his best man at the chancel rail, they also in their full dress regiments, this being the first time the bridegroom has appeared in the full dress paraphernalia of a major, to which rank he has recently been promoted.

A reception to several hundred guests was held in the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. William F. Mattingly, in H street, where the decorations were in American Beauty roses, and white, pink, and red sweet peas. The table from which a buffet supper was served was in green and white, and the bride cut her cake with the sword of the bridegroom, in true military fashion.

There were many beautiful summer costumes in the church and the house, which made the scene a brilliant and beautiful one. Mrs. Mattingly, mother of the bride, wore an import costume of gray silk voile over gray, with insets of black thread lace, and embroidery in gold and black. The bodice and sleeves were finished with Irish lace and touches of blue, and the hat was in directoire style of gray tulle with gray plumes. Mrs. Carlisle Porter, mother of the bridegroom, wore a white lace robe, black hat; Mrs. S. P. Brown, grandmother of the bride, wore a handsome robe of black lace over black, trimmed with old point lace, with black pearls and a black bonnet with white plumes. Mrs. Charlotte M. Conger, aunt of the bride, wore gray chiffon over gray silk, trimmed with Irish lace, and a white hat trimmed with pink roses and blue velvet. Miss Anna Brown, aunt of the bride, was in soft white muslin over white, with a picture hat of white. Miss Minnie Farr, aunt of the bride, wore gray voile over gray silk, trimmed with bands of white, white lace, a white lace hat and pearls. Mrs. Ward Brown wore her wedding gown of white cologne over white satin, trimmed with bands of satin and white lace, and the hat was in directoire style, white liberty satin over white silk, trimmed with princess lace, with black Gainsborough hat; Mrs. Allyn K. Capron wore white chiffon over satin, with black picture hat; Miss Capron wore white chiffon over silk, with white hat; Mrs. Allyn Capron, sr., aunt of Mrs. Carlisle Porter, wore black crepe de chine; Mrs. Palazotti, aunt of the bridegroom, wore black and white; Mrs. John H. Davis, the bride's mother, wore a white lace hat and pearls. Mr. Morton, of Palo Alto, Cal., aunt of the bride, wore a superb costume of black thread lace over white silk, with black and white hat, and black and white plumes; Mrs. Robert Treat Fair, jr., of Boston, formerly Miss Marie Matt, cousin of the bride, wore white chiffon over satin, with white hat and plumes.

After the reception, the bride and bridegroom left for their wedding trip, which will be of less than a fortnight's duration. The bride wore one of the most distinctive costumes of the new shade of gray, known abroad as "tope" silk voile, over silk of the same shade, with a hat of chiffon to match, and shaded plumes of the same color, a suitably becoming to the delicate beauty of the bride. On the return of Maj. and Mrs. Porter, they will take up their residence at 1723 Twenty-first street, the house recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hichborn, nee Hoyt.

Among the cut-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Payson, of Portland, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Treat Palmer, jr., of Boston; Mrs. Walter Parwell, nee Williams, of Chicago; Mrs. James M. Morton, of California; Mr. and Mrs. Cusack, of Annapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Van Ness, of Baltimore, and Mr. Richard Porter, of Baltimore.

Miss Vivian Ursula Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Rowland Cameron, was married last evening to Mr. Hubert Burnham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham, of Chicago. The ceremony was performed in All Souls' Unitarian Church by Rev. U. G. B. Pierce, pastor, in the presence of a distinguished company of friends and relatives.

A reception and bridal supper followed for the bride party and relatives, in the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Walker, in S street. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Beatrice Cameron, who was maid of honor, and Miss Katherine Gassaway.

BRIDE AND GROOM OF JUNE.

MAJ. D. D. PORTER, United States Marine Corps.

MRS. D. D. PORTER, who was Miss Winifred M. Mattingly.

Gambrell, of Laurel, Md.; Miss Ida Bowles, of Washington; Miss Louise McCully, of Philadelphia; Miss Claire Price, of Philadelphia; Miss Naomi Thompson, of Washington, and Miss Elizabeth Zane Stearns, of Wheeling, W. Va., bridesmaids. The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Mr. Daniel H. Burnham, jr., of Chicago, and the ushers were: Ensign Court, Mr. Richard Prendergast, Mr. Rex Whelton, attended several of the hopes at St. John's Church, and Mr. Fletcher Neighbors, both of this city.

The church decorations were all of white and green, palms and daisies being used entirely. The gowns were particularly effective, and were all designed by the bride. She wore ivory white satin, made in princess fashion and trimmed with rare old lace, an heirloom. Her veil of tulle was held with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower of white orchids and lilies of the valley, and her only ornaments were a horsetail pin of pearls and diamonds, suspended from a string of pearls given her by the bridegroom's parents. The maid of honor wore white, organza, elaborately trimmed with Mechlin lace and tiny ruffles, a long cream satin sash finishing the costume, and she carried Golden Gate roses. The bridesmaids' gowns were of white emerald green, organza, trimmed with Mechlin lace and tiny ruffles. They carried bunches of daisies. Mrs. Cameron, mother of the bride, wore Empire net over cream satin.

After the reception the bride and bridegroom left on their wedding trip, which will be of less than a fortnight's duration. The bride wore one of the most distinctive costumes of the new shade of gray, known abroad as "tope" silk voile, over silk of the same shade, with a hat of chiffon to match, and shaded plumes of the same color, a suitably becoming to the delicate beauty of the bride. GUARDS GET MEDALS

Second Regiment Men Receive Honors.

DRESS PARADE ON THE ELLIPSE

Twenty-nine Men Who Saw Service in Spanish Campaigns or in the Philippines Insurrection Called from Banks and Awarded Prizes. First Regiment Review To-night.

For the primary purpose of presenting Spanish and Philippine war service medals, the Second Regiment, National Guard of the District of Columbia, reported for regimental drill and dress parade on the ellipse back of the White House, in compliance with orders from militia headquarters, last evening at 6:30 o'clock.

The regiment assembled at the Guard Armory, Seventh street and Pennsylvania avenue, at 6 o'clock, in dress uniform. Owing to the unusual hour of assembly and the extreme heat, the ranks of three of the companies were so much depleted that they were consolidated with other companies, thus making the regiment to consist of eight companies instead of the usual twelve.

As soon as the companies had formed in marching order, the regiment proceeded, headed by the National Guard Brigade Band, and in command of Col. Emmett M. Urell.

On arrival at the ellipse the three battalions were put through the regimental drill by the colonel, while the band took up its station at the south side of the oval. When the various maneuvers had been gone through, the regiment was brought into line, regiment front, facing north. They made a very pleasing sight there, drawn up in perfect alignment, with the colors at the center.

Addressed by Gen. Harries.

Brig. Gen. George H. Harries, commander of the National Guard Brigade, came forward to the east end of the line, attended by Col. Urell and his staff. The names of those to whom service medals were to be given for service in the Spanish war and the Philippine insurrection were called, and each man at his name left the ranks and marched to the point directly in front of Gen. Harries.

Twenty-nine men were called and formed the line before their commanding officer, who handed to each in turn his medal or medals, if he had been in both campaigns. After all had been presented, Gen. Harries made a short address of congratulation to the men.

The regiment was then again formed, and marching in company front, passed in review before Col. Urell. Continuing without halt, they were marched back to the armory and dismissed.

A similar programme is to be followed by the First Regiment to-morrow, and the Second Regiment to-morrow, the drill being at 6:30 o'clock each day. Medals will also be awarded for the same service to the men of these commands who have earned them.

Those Who Received Medals.

Spanish campaign—Walter Mablin, color sergeant; John A. O'Neill, quartermaster's sergeant; Alfred L. Giovannoni, color sergeant; William C. Ryan, private; Company B: Clarence N. Walker, sergeant; Company B: Privates, Company G, Clarence L. Adams, Oscar O. Danner, James S. Davis, John W. Dogges, Peter J. Duffy, James J. Hearn, William L. Lawson, Donald E. Leslie, Benjamin J. Madert, Joseph B. Murray, William B. Norris, Albert Rosenbaum, James C. Sargent, Leslie Waple, John M. Wadsworth, William A. Williams, and William T. Lushy; Charles O. Saers, corporal, Company G.

Philippine campaign—Corporal, Company G, Elijah B. Deeters; Privates, Company G, Oscar O. Danner, Ernest E. Bradburn, Peter J. Duffy, Joseph H. McIntyre, Joseph B. Murray, Harry C. Weirich, George W. Wendall, and John Hogan.

MORGAN'S NIECE WEDDED.

Episcopal Minister.

Tuxedo, N. Y., June 23—J. Pierpont Morgan at noon to-day gave his favorite niece, Miss Ursula Juliet Morgan, of this place, in marriage to the Rev. William J. Fitz Simon, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, and in addition to the kiss, he gave to the happy bride after the ceremony, it is rumored that he put into her hand a check which will keep the wolf from the door of St. John's rectory for many years to come. Just what the amount of the check was could not be learned positively, estimates varying from $25,000 to $100,000. As the bride of to-day is a young woman, wealthy, and the bridegroom is distinctly poor in this world's goods, the gift, whatever the amount, will not come amiss.

The wedding to-day is the culmination of a genuine love match, which had its beginning more than a year ago, when Miss Morgan, a devoted member of St. Mary's Parish, welcomed its new rector and promised him hearty co-operation in parish work, sewing for the poor and other charitable activities of the church. Of course, the offer was accepted. Rector and fair parishioner were thrown much together, and it was not long until both had lost their hearts. Cards were issued a month ago, announcing that Miss Morgan was abroad at the time, he decided to come back to America for the express purpose of giving his niece away at the marriage. He has announced that he will return to the continent in a few days.

The ceremony was performed in St. Mary's Church, and afterward there was a reception and wedding breakfast at Table Rock, the country home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Person Hamilton, near Tuxedo. The bride was attended by five bridesmaids. The best man was the Rev. E. Wilson Fitz Simon, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, at Wallingford, near Philadelphia, and brother of the bridegroom.

The bridegroom is the son of the Hon. McGregor Fitz Simon, of Castle Dawson, Ireland, and has been in this country some years. Until three years ago he was a Presbyterian minister in Maryland. Then he was received into the Episcopal Church by Bishop Coleman, of Delaware, and later ordained to the Episcopal ministry.

GIVES $10,000 TO G. W. U.

Donation by John Hays Hammond to Sustention Fund Announced.

Gratification was expressed here yesterday upon the announcement that John Hays Hammond, recent candidate for the Republican Vice Presidential nomination, had subscribed $10,000 toward the sustention fund of $125,000, which is being raised for the enlargement of the college of political sciences of the George Washington University.

This information came from Chicago yesterday morning, where Dr. Richard D. Harlan is now visiting as special representative of the George Washington University, in the interest of the project.

Although it could not be confirmed here last night, it is probable that Charles W. Needham, president of the University, who is spending his vacation at one of the near-by resorts, has been notified of the gift.
